Ph.D. - 2013- 2017

Advisor

Sachin S. Gunthe

Present status

I am currently working as Assistant Professor in the Department of Civil Engineering at National Institute of Technology Calicut, Kerala, India.

About Me

I completed my masters and doctorate at IIT Madras in 2017, specializing in the characterization of biological aerosols. I was introduced to the field of atmospheric and climate science during my masters and developed a strong urge to explore new areas in the field of atmospheric science which eventually paved way for my career in research.

Research Interest

- Characterizing bioaerosols in outdoor and indoor environments to understand their potential impact on human health and climate.
- Source apportionment of ambient air pollutants.
- Analyzing air pollution, interpreting and understanding trends in weather and climate.
