"Elevating Excellence,
Inspiring Futures"

M.A. in Buddhist Studies

Applications are invited from eligible candidates to join the 2-year Master's program in Buddhist Studies. The program is designed to provide a rigorous theoretical base as well as research training for careers across academia, policy and governance.

Come to the enchanting Himalayas where the classroom merges with the sacred landscape and where learning and living become indistinguishable.

Key Features:

- 🌸 Immersive experience and practice-based curriculum
- 🌸 Grounding in comparative philosophy and religion
- 🌸 Faculty drawn from academia, public policy circles and practitioners
- 🌸 Theory based core courses and area/problem-based electives
- 🌸 Exposure to research methodology and mandatory project component
- 🌸 Dedicated courses on Sanskrit/Pali language
- 🌸 Opportunity to learn in monasteries

Eligibility criteria and admission process:

Graduates from all disciplines with 55 percent marks can apply. The selection is based on performance in an interview where the candidates will be tested on general awareness of Indic religions and aptitude for textual appreciation.
